GLENEAGLES HOSPITAL CELEBRATES 60TH ANNIVERSARY WITH SCHOOL POCKET MONEY GIFT TO 60 STUDENTS

- Singapore's first private hospital, caring for patients since 1959, turns 60
- Gleneagles Hospital pledges $43,200 to ensure no child should go hungry, every child can pursue and enjoy their education

Singapore, 30 June 2019 – Gleneagles Hospital, Singapore's first private hospital, celebrates its 60-year diamond anniversary with a pledge of $43,200 to sponsor 60 primary school children from The Straits Times School Pocket Money Fund.

The amount raised will provide the children with $60 per month, for one year, to cover food and transport expenses, and alleviate other financial constraints. Gleneagles doctors and staff at every level have responded enthusiastically towards the pledge, each giving within their own means. The hospital will match the amount raised from its staff dollar-for-dollar, and make up any shortfall when the fundraising efforts end.

Members of the public are also encouraged to join in this meaningful effort. Public donations will add on to the funds raised, over and above the amount pledged by Gleneagles.

“Gleneagles Hospital's unwavering commitment to its patients has been the reason behind its success. As we look back these past 60 years, we are grateful to those who have believed in us and made us one of Asia's most trusted hospital,” said Ms Hui Hwa Koh-Minjoot, Chief Executive Officer of Gleneagles Hospital. “As we look ahead, we hope to also sow into the lives of our children and play a small part in their success. Partnering the Straits Times School Pocket Money Fund to help those in need allows us to give back, invest in our next generation and grow with the community.”

Guest-of-Honour, Dr Amy Khor, Senior Minister of State, Ministry of the Environment and Water Resources & Ministry of Health graced the event and celebrated the occasion with more than 500 attendees. The hospital hosted a “Healthy Ever After” carnival where characters like White Rabbit, Tin Man and Humpty Dumpty came alive to share health tips through interactive play.

Gleneagles history closely mirrors Singapore's colonial beginnings, independence and growth into a trusted international brand name. From a 45-bed hospital in 1959, the hospital has transformed to today's 258-bed tertiary hospital with an extensive range of medical and surgical specialties. Today, there are 13 Gleneagles hospitals around the world, in Singapore, Malaysia, Brunei, Hong Kong and India.
